Writing Down the State.

Our two city cotemporaries are laboring it would seem, to attain to the bad eminence of writing down the State. Their efforts are of course Quixotic and will recoil on their own graceless heads, but they are nevertheless entitled to the credit of making a faithful effort to accomplish it. Indulging conceptions of their own worth, which the public do not concede to them, they have in the exuberance of their vanity imagined that their few, little, narrow-hearted, cross-grained, hard-fisted "strait-sect" party constitute the State and the only loyal portion of it, and by consequence, that those whom they put forth for public favor and office are alone worthy, however base or barren their record, and were entitled to them. Now that they are beaten and overwhelmed, they have concluded or at least would have the outside world conclude, that all is lost! Hence their abuse of the State, and the utterance of the vilest slanders in regard to the loyalty of our people, ever enunciated. Do they suppose that they can defame any one by the cry of traitor? Do they imagine any one at least in the State, can believe a word they say? Have they not been traitors themselves to every cause they have ever espoused? Were they not the abusers and villifiers of the old government? Were they not the teachers of secession and revolution? Did they not espouse the cause of the Confederacy and while pretending to be with it, were villifying Mr. Lincoln and the United States government? And when they turned against the Confederacy did they not abuse Jeff. Davis and the whole South? Who has confidence in their devotion to the United States government? Who can believe their fulsome adulations of President Johnson now, when only a few years ago they were his defamers?

And what do those men and their papers now say? Will they not eat their words in the next four years, as they have done repeatedly in the last four? Let us put them upon record, that the people may bear it in mind. Verily, the people of North Carolina have no confidence in the whole menagerie. Their howlings are as the idle wind. Hear what they now say, simply because in the exercise of a free choice, the people of the State prefer Jonathan Worth for Civil Governor to Gov. Holden:

"Universal loyalty may come with the next generation, but we who live in this will never see it."—Progress, Nov. 14th.

We observe that a large vote was polled in Georgia against the repudiation of the war debt. Notwithstanding President Johnson telegraphed that the debt must be repudiated, 117 members voted against it. There is more disloyalty in the South now than there was six months ago.—Standard, Nov. 15th.

We find the above item in an exchange. We agree with our contemporary that there is much disloyalty in the South, but we do not agree that there is more now than there was six months ago; it has been here all the time, but a few months ago it crouched and snivelled at the feet of the victorious national forces, and now as leniency and mercy has warmed into life and the troops have been withdrawn, treason becomes bold and defiant.—Progress, Nov. 16th.

But now men are vieing with each other in the work of stirring up strife, hindering the Provisional Governor in his work, and raking up old Confederate issues. This is the plain, unmistakable work of traitors—unpardoned, virulent traitors.—Standard, 17th Nov.

Whenever you hear a man, distinguished as a politician or noted as a "man of God," declare that he is for the Union, and qualify the declaration by a long rigmarole about sympathy with the South, is a Southern man, went with his State, and so on, and a few disparaging remarks about "red-mouthed Yankees," put it down that that man is a traitor.—Progress, 16th Nov.

By plotting darkly, by exciting discontent and urging unpardoned men to become candidates in defiance of the wishes and instructions of President Johnson, they have drawn the line of demarcation. They have placed themselves at the head of the discontented, the unpardoned and the unconquered. Their work has been that which might have been expected from traitors, and such they are.—Standard, of 17th Nov.

Since the secession triumph at the late election in this State, we learn that in some sections disaffection is growing so defiant as to assert publicly that the Government dare not hang Jeff. Davis for fear of the consequences. And is it possible that more treasonable plots are hatching against the Government, and that another rebellion is in contemplation? Really, from these threats it would seem so.—Progress of 15th Nov.

Such is a specimen of the wrath and rage belched out by these people and presses, against those who dared to exercise the right of freemen. But their rage is impotent and their abuse is worth a premium to any man, who desires a reputation as an honest, independent man.

Judge Reade and Mr. Rayner.

Both of these gentlemen, prominent citizens of the State, have recently been in Washington and have had interviews with President Johnson, in reference to the present posture of this State in regard to reconstruction. The papers state that the interview of Mr. Rayner with the President was very satisfactory, and we presume the interview of Judge Reade was equally so.

Judge Reade's visit pertains we presume, mainly, to his official duty as President of the Convention. The precise object of Mr. Rayner's visit has not been made public, nor have we been at all inquisitive to find out.

What we are concerned about, as connected with their visit to Washington at this juncture, is this: We believe no people were ever more grossly belied and libelled, than the people of North Carolina are and have been, by a portion of the press and by interested parties, who have sought to gain the ear of the President and the people of Washington and the North. The most unwarranted, false and injurious statements and suspicions have been circulated to the prejudice of the State and our people. Judge Reade and Mr. Rayner not only have the information, but they will give no countenance to these slanders, and will, we trust, exert their influence to correct them, and place our State fairly before the country.

The True Soldier.

Magnanimity and usefulness always mark the great. Simple justice and charity exist where there is no greatness of soul. These are always found in true men, but when to these are added generosity and magnanimity, we find greatness. Generosity is a mark all over the world, of the true soldier and the true sailor. Magnanimity is a rarer virtue.

Recently in New York a meeting was held to consider the propriety and necessity of making provision for the destitute in the South who are suffering from the late war. The meeting was a large one, and among the number of distinguished persons invited, were Gens. Grant and Sherman. The addresses of the occasion indicated the right spirit. The Generals could not attend, but forwarded letters from which we extract the following, because they exhibit the magnanimity of the true soldier.

[Extract of a letter from General Sherman:

"I am pleased, however, to know that so many good people in your great city have the means and willingness to bestow a part on those whom war has left helpless and in want, and I know there are men in your midst far better qualified than I am to point out the way in which such charity will do the most good.

Complimenting you on the good policy which has prompted your action, and thanking you for uniting my name therewith, I am, &c.,

W. T. SHERMAN,
Major-General.

[Extract from a letter from Lieut. General Grant:]

The war has worked such ruin upon the South that without some aid from those who can give it, there must be much suffering the coming winter. The work of your commission, while it will give present aid where it is so much needed, will also serve to heal old wounds.

Whatever is calculated to increase the friendship and brotherly feeling between the two sections of our country, I heartily approve of.

Very respectfully,
U. S. GRANT, Lieut. Gen.

"Strait-Sectism."

Tennessee has for some time been a prey to "strait-sectism." The people of that State have suffered much, and more trouble awaits them.

Recently in the Senate of that State a Mr. Trimble offered a resolution with the following closing sentiment. Thank Heaven, we have a President who has no sympathy with such views. It reads thus:

"That for their bad eminence and great crimes against their fellow men and the United States, Jeff. Davis and his accomplices have justly forfeited their lives, and deserve and ought to suffer the extreme penalty of the law."

Hon. George Davis.

The papers state that the Hon. George Davis late Attorney General of the Confederate States, has been brought to New York from Key West, and delivered over to the United States authorities. Mr. Davis is a prominent and popular citizen of this State, and has many friends who deeply sympathize with him. We presume he was arrested while attempting quietly to leave the country. We trust the many good qualities of Mr. Davis, will induce the President to grant him an early pardon for his offences.

Edmund B. Freeman, Esq.

This veteran state officer, we learn will be a candidate before the Legislature for Principal Engrossing Clerk. Of course that body will readily elect him, upon the ground of personal merit, without regard to party predilections.

Candidates.

We call the attention of members to the cards of different gentlemen who are candidates for Clerkships, &c. to the next Legislature.

Life Insurance.

It will be seen that W. B. Gulick, Esq., has been appointed Local Agent of the Ætna Life Insurance Company.

ROBBERIES.—Robbery and thieving are becoming more and more frequent. On Friday night last, the store of Mr. James Rogers on Hargett Street in this city, was entered, and $60 or more in money, together with shoes, knives, spoons, &c., were taken. The whole loss is estimated by Mr. R. to be upwards of $200.

On Saturday morning, two freedmen were arrested in the city for stealing—one a horse from Mr. R. Rogers, and the other an ox from Mr. Wm. Morris of this County. The negroes were locked up, and the animals are now in the hands of their owners.

Africa on Market Square.

MR. EDITOR:—Since the middle of April I have neither "whipped a nigger," nor but once indulged in the luxury of using bad English towards any of the African race. In fact I find so much relief from a retinue of useless slaves, in an economical view, that I have very little heart to find fault with our deliverers, so far as I am personally concerned. What the new Freedmen will do for themselves is another question. What a large portion of them are doing, may be easily seen every day by any citizen who passes Market Square. From fifty to one hundred men and boys are daily congregated in that interesting quarter, seemingly smelling their dinners around one lean shoat, three chickens, two baskets of hard baked bread, and a few salt fish. They come there to spend the day, but do not seem to obey the injunction of Jenny Vandergrief to her invited guests. They do not bring their dinners with them. They seem one and all to have nothing to do—and do it. Seventy three men and boys were counted there a few evenings ago. The evening before, there were fifty-four. That is about the daily average of black, bull-headed, stupid and stinking sons of Africa, who rendezvous around the Market House all laboriously engaged in doing nothing. They are said to wish no work. Sometimes three or four of them can be hired to cut a one horse load of wood for seventy-five cents.

If these freedmen were white, we should well enough know how to dispose of them. In the olden time, before we rebelled, we should have pounced down on them with the vagrant act.—White people were not allowed to loaf about without any visible means of support. Since the 20th of May 1861, until last April, such white vagrants and loafers—if any such could have been found, would have been nabbed and sent to the wars without ceremony. Between the conscript Bureau, (so-called,) the County Courts and Mayor Harrison and his city subs, the market square would have been cleared in a jiffy of all such white wanderers and loafers.—But all that has been changed. You may find great difficulty in picking your way through this interesting and odoriferous throng of African gentry, but you do not know what to do about it. It is one of the beauties of young freedom. The luxury of doing nothing but stand in the way of ladies and gentlemen is inestimable.—These new fledged freemen would be greatly aggrieved if deprived of their right to stand independently, with their hands in their old breeches pockets, breathing the pure air of freedom and independence, surrounded by salt fish and shoats. You may not elbow them out of your way. You may not in your impatience even rip out an oath at their impudence. It might lead to unpleasant results, arrests and all that.

It is understood that this regiment of loose individuals of African 'scent who perambulate our most public streets, and infest the market square, are almost all from the country, where their services are at present very much needed, and for which services they would be liberally paid. Is there no redress? Is it embraced in the duties of the Freedmen's Bureau, to induce them to be industrious? Have they any power to compel them to do what our white population would have been obliged to do in former times, viz: have some visible means of support? Have the negroes more privileges than our white population? May they become a nuisance, which with a change of color, would at once be abated? Somebody should attend to this matter. Q.

General Duff Green, of Alabama, died at Mobile on the 10th. He was celebrated as an editor, politician and financier.

Just as We Expected.

Several days before the election we warned the people that in the event of Mr. Holden's failing to be elected Governor, he would be pressed for the Senatorship by the very parties who, pending the election, had come out so very strong against the election to Congress of any one who could not take the test oath. The verification of our prediction is before us to-day in the following, cut from the Raleigh Progress of Monday:

"We trust, however, that Governor Holden's talents will not be lost to the State in the terrible crisis through which her people are passing, and that the Legislature, burying party, and party differences, will elect him to the United States Senate, where his influence may still be exerted for the good of a people that he has served so faithfully in his present position."

All of the "sect" will soon sing the same tune, thus affording another evidence of that charming consistency which has won for them so large a share of the confidence of the people of North Carolina. We said that Mr. Holden was really riding on two horses. Running for Governor, and ready for the Senate. Of course we do not pretend to say that Mr. Holden has personally taken any potition in this respect, but the prompt appearance of the above in one of his organs, immediately after his ascertained or probable defeat, leaves every ground for surmise, and but little reason for doubt.

If elected to the Senate, could Mr. Holden take the test oath? Hardly, we think, in view of his recorded vote for the secession ordinance in 1861, and his appeals to the people to rally in war against the United States Government.

But in truth such speculations are needless, since Mr. Holden will not be put to so cruel a test. If we read the signs aright the Senatorship will hardly be forced on him.

By the way, we notice in the same issue of the Progress a fresh evidence of the kind, patriotic and conciliatory spirit which animates the "sect" in its effort to set the State right, and facilitate her prompt readmission to the Union. This delightful spirit finds vent in the following eloquent and refreshing paragraph:

[From the Raleigh Progress, Nov. 13, 1865.]

"HOW STANDS NORTH CAROLINA?—If our Northern brethren, and those who administer the Government at Washington, want to know how things stand in North Carolina, according to our impressions, we have no objection to speak out. We give it as our honest conviction, based upon the information at hand, that were either Jefferson Davis or Zebulon B. Vance, the one about to be tried for treason and the other a paroled prisoner, under the same charge, to oppose Andrew Johnson for the Presidency, and the election be held to morrow, they would beat him twenty thousand votes in the State. All the Vance and Davis leaders will be against Johnson when his name is brought before them."

This is the way these people serve their State. Failing to rule, they would fain ruin. They become desperate. They utter libels which only fail of the full effect intended because of the little weight attached to the utterers. And yet in this same issue of the Progress, the editor speaks of Mr. Worth as a gentleman of fine attainments, of sterling integrity, and inculcates the duty of all to bow to the voice of the people, and trusts that now that the elections are over all bitterness engendered by the struggle will be buried, and that all will work together for the common good. A pretty example the Progress sets.

We warned our people before the election to be not too sanguine of the early restoration of the State and of civil law. We told them that we were yet at sea,—when we shall enter the desired haven is still a matter of much uncertainty, due to the adverse pressure occasioned by the result of the Northern elections, and not at all to anything occurring in North Carolina, although of course such articles are well calculated to afford an excuse to those anxious to intensify that pressure. Before the election, President Johnson informed Judge Reade that he should instruct Mr. Holden to continue in the exercise of the functions of Provisional Governor of North Carolina until relieved by directions from him. The following is the telegraph so instructing Mr. Holden:

"WASHINGTON, Nov. 11, 1865.

To His Excellency, W. W. Holden:

The President directs me to say that he expects you to continue in the exercise of the functions of Provisional Governor of North Carolina until you shall have been relieved by directions from him.

[Signed] WM. H. SEWARD."

We extract the above from the Wilmington Journal. We wish to add that on the same day the telegram was forwarded to Gov. Holden, that is on the 11th, the Standard claimed that Gov. Holden was elected by 10,000 majority.—ED. SENTINEL.

We are gratified that our friend, R. W. Hardie, has been complimented by an election to the office of Sheriff, without opposition. This is the just award of the people for his unexcelled urbanity and his stern impartial justice in the performance of his duties.

Jesse T. Warden, who has been Clerk of the County Court from the time whereof the memory of the writer runneth not to the contrary, was the choice of the people of Cumberland in the late election.

Neill W. Ray, the gallant but unfortunate soldier who was elected to the Superior Court Clerkship, is one of the noblest and best men—Running, as he did, against one of the most popular men in the county, he received the most complimentary vote ever given any man in Cumberland.

We will not pass any encomiums on Gen. McLean, and Cols. Shaw and Smith, our members elect to the General Assembly—they need none. That they will represent us well and faithfully is the opinion of a very large majority of our people.—Fayetteville News.

United States Senators.

One of the duties that will devolve on the Legislature that will convene in Raleigh on the 27th instant, is the election of United States Senators. In connection with this position we have heard mentioned the names of Governor Vance, Hon. George Davis, Governor Graham, Hon. W. N. H Smith, and Hon. T. S. Ashe. We cannot conjecture what will be the sentiment of the Legislature on this question; but we do hope that they will discard all partisanship and elect two good and true men, who will properly represent our State in the next Congress, (if they are admitted.) —Wilmington Dispatch

We regret to learn that a fire occurred on Hillsboro' street last night, at about 10½ o'clock, destroying the dwelling occupied by Jno. T. McKay, Esq., and owned by E. L. Pemberton, Esq. We understand that the building was not insured! —Fayetteville News.

DIED,

At Cottage Home, Lincoln County, N. C., on the 13th inst., Major WILLIAM W. MORRISON, late Commissary in the Confederate army, aged about 38 years. Major Morrison was well known in this city as the Private Secretary of Governor Graham, when the Executive Office was filled by him; subsequently as an officer of the Navy department at Washington for eight or ten years prior to the rupture of 1861; upon the occurrence of which he resigned his place, to share the fortunes of his own State; and from his well-known habits of diligence in business, energy and integrity, was soon appointed to an important position in the commissariat, which he administered with success and commendation throughout the war, having his quarters usually at Goldsborough.

Though not participating in the dangers of the field with the other members of his family, including two brothers and four brothers in law, two of whom were Lieutenant Generals Jackson and Hill, he held open with a steady hand the gates of supply from the important district of Eastern North Carolina, on which the army of Lee mainly subsisted for many weary months, before the final evacuation of Petersburg and Richmond.

Beyond the tears of affection which bedew his grave, are a numerous circle of acquaintances in all Sections of the Union, who will remember with kindness the guilessness of his nature, the gentleness of his manners, the sincerity and cordiality of his friendships. COM.

FROM SOUTH CAROLINA.

Message of Governor Perry.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
SOUTH CAROLINA, Nov 7, 1865.

To the Honorable the Senate and House of Representatives:

GENTLEMEN—I had the honor of receiving from the President of the United States the following telegraphic dispatch on the 28th of October last:

"To B. F. Perry, Provisional Governor:

"Your last two dispatches have been received, and the pardons suggested have been ordered.

"I hope that your Legislature will have no hesitation in adopting the amendment to the Constitution of the United States abolishing slavery. It will set an example which will, no doubt, be followed by the other States, and place South Carolina in a most favorable attitude before the nation. I trust in God that it will be done. The nation and State will then be left free and untrammeled to take that course which sound policy, wisdom and humanity may suggest.

ANDREW JOHNSON,
"President U. S."

Three days afterwards I received the following telegram from the President, dated

"WASHINGTON, Oct. 31, 1865.

"To B, F. Perry, Provisional Governor:

"There is a deep interest felt as to what course the Legislature will take in regard to the adoption of the amendment to the Constitution of the United States abolishing slavery, and the assumption of the debt created to aid in the rebellion against the Government of the United States. If the action of the Convention was in good faith, why hesitate in making it a part of the Constitution of the United States? I trust in God that the restoration of the Union will not be defeated, and all that has, so far, been well done, thrown away! I still have faith that all will come out right yet. This opportunity ought to be understood and appreciated by the people of the Southern States. If I know my own heart and every passion which enters it, it is to restore the blessings of the Union and tie up and heal every bleeding wound which has been caused by this fratricidal war. Let us be guided by love and wisdom from on High, and union and peace will once more reign throughout the land.

"ANDREW JOHNSON."

To those telegraphic despatches, I replied that the war debt of South Carolina was very inconsiderable; that our whole State debt, at this time, incurred, anterior to the war, in constructing railroads and building a new State house, with an old debt of long standing; that we had assumed no portion of the Confederate debt, and were responsible in no way for it. The expenditures which the State had incurred up to a certain period had all been settled and refunded by the Confederate States

I stated that South Carolina had abolished slavery in good faith, and never intended or wished to restore it; that the Legislature was then considering a wise, just and humane system of laws for the government and protection of the freedmen, in all their rights of person and property; and that there was no objection to the adoption of the proposed amendment of the Federal Constitution, except that Congress might, under the second section of that amendment, claim the right to legislate for the negro after slavery was abolished. I likewise stated that no official notice had ever been received by the Legislature of the proposed amendment to the Constitution of the United States.

In reply to this despatch I received yesterday the following telegram from the Secretary of State, dated

"WASHINGTON, Nov. 6, 1865.

"To His Excellency B. F. Perry, Provisional Governor of South Carolina:

"Your despatch to the President of November [illegible] been received. He is not entirely satisfied [illegible] explanation it contains. He deems necessary [illegible] passage of adequate ordinances, declaring that all insurrectionary proceedings in the State are unlawful and void ab initio.

"Neither the Constitution nor the laws direct official information to the State amendments to the Constitution submitted to Congress. Notice of the amendment, by Congress, abolishing slavery, was nevertheless sent by the Secretary of State, at the time, to the States which were then in communication with this Government. Formal notice will immediately be given to those States which were then in insurrection.

"The objection which you mention to last clause of the Constitutional amendment is regarded as querulous and unreasonable, because that clause is really restraining in its effect, instead of enlarging the power of Congress.

"The President considers the acceptance of the amendment by South Carolina as indispensable to a restoration of her relations with the other States of the Union. WM. H. SEWARD."

This formal notice of the proposed amendment to the Constitution of the United States has not yet been received. When it is, I will communicate the same to you. The amendment may be seen in the acts of the last Congress, and is in these words:

"Neither slavery nor involuntary servitude, except as a punishment for crime, whereof the party shall have been duly convicted, shall exist within the limits of the United States, or any place subject to their jurisdiction.

"Section 2. Congress shall have power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation. Approved February 1, 1865."

A few days since I addressed a communication to Mr. Seward, Secretary of State, by mail, in which I repeated and enlarged on the views previously expressed to the President, in reference to the objections which were entertained in South Carolina to the proposed Constitutional amendment. I am happy to state that the Secretary of State does not regard these objections as well founded, but considers them "querulous and unreasonable." It is true that a plain, honest construction of the language of the amendment would be, that slavery was abolished in the United States, and that Congress should simply enforce it. When this was done their legislation would be ended. They could not attempt, under the authority given by this amendment, to pass laws for the government of the "freedmen" in the free States. The attorney General of the United States and the President have both been understood as concurring in this opinion. It would therefore, be well, in adopting the proposed amendment, to place on record the construction which had been given to it by the Executive Department of the Federal Government.

It is manifest, from the earnest, eloquent, bold and patriotic terms in which the President has urged the adoption of this amendment, that he regards, as he says, "all that South Carolina has done—and so well done—as thrown away, unless the amendment is accepted by the Legislature." The Secretary of State is still more explicit in his language. He says "the President considers the acceptance of the amendment by South Carolina as indispensable to a restoration of her relations with the other States of the Union." The reason why this exaction is made of the Southern States, after they have abolished slavery, is that they might otherwise, at some future day, change their Constitution and restore slavery in defiance of the Federal Government.

You, gentlemen, have, at this time, the destiny of the State in your hands, and I feel assured that you will act calmly and dispassionately, with the view to the peace, happiness and well-being of South Carolina

I addressed a communication to the Secretary of the Treasury at Washington, a few days since, urging that, in case the Legislature should assume the payment of that portion of the direct tax for which South Carolina is liable, that the Federal Government should receive her bonds for the same, or suspend the collection of the tax for the present year. I would advise the immediate assumption by the State of her portion of the direct tax, which is about $366,000. This will relieve the people from the immediate payment of it to the Federal tax collectors, and enable the State to make some arrangements in reference to it with the Treasury Department or Congress.

In my communication to the Secretary of State I urged the propriety of withdrawing the colored troops from the interior of the State to the forts or sea coast, and requested that white troops might, for the present, be retained in Charleston, Georgetown and Beaufort.

I have forwarded the resolutions you sent me the other day, in reference to the schoolhouses in Charleston, to General Howard, and asked that they should be restored to the proper authorities. I made the same request in regard to the Military Hall in Charleston. B. F. PERRY.

Members of Congress.

First District—The returns indicate the election of J R Stubbs, Esq., of Martin.

Second—Charles C Clark, of Craven.

Third—Thomas C Fuller, of Cumberland.

Fourth—Josiah Turner, jr., of Orange.

Fifth—Col. Bedford Brown, of Caswell.

Sixth—Dr J G Ramsey we learn is elected by 100 majority.

Seventh—A H Jones, Esq., of Henderson, we judge is elected.

The "Test Oath."

Hon. A. H. H. Stuart, recently elected to Congress from Virginia, and who avows his intention not to take the required test oath, says:

I mean to present myself and demand my seat, as one legally elected and returned, and possessing all the constitutional requirements of eligibility. If admitted, I will give a cordial support to Mr. Johnson's policy of reconstruction, and use every effort to restore tranquility and good feeling to the Union. If excluded, I will return home, and calmly await the development of events. I certainly will not make way for a more pliant representative.

DISTRESS IN ALABAMA.—We regret to learn that great suffering is apprehended in Alabama, on account of the scarcity of food. Governor PARSONS and Gen. SWAYNE, Commissioner of the Freedmen's Bureau for that State, met a number of leading citizens a few days since, and placed prominently before them the wants of the people. It is said that careful computation showed that, if all the food in the State were evenly distributed, it would not last more than four months, and that many people and certain sections of the State were in the greatest distress. It is stated in the New York Times that measures are being taken to hold a meeting in that city to bring the subject prominently before the public.—Wil. Dispatch.

Within a couple of days the President has been in receipt of quite lengthy telegrams from distinguished Radicals, who will figure in the next Congress, beseeching him to change his reconstruction policy before the meeting of that body, declaring at the same time that it has proved a decided failure. One of these telegrams is from a very prominent source, and is indicative of the Radical programme at the coming session. The President, it is understood, has replied to none of these despatches.—Exchange.

The demand for freight accomodations is now very great. Immense quantities of cotton and naval stores now block up our wharves, awaiting shipment to New York and other points. As an evidence of the growing prosperity of Wilmington, our commercial columns, yesterday, showed an arrival, on the previous day, of twenty-five hundred barrels of turpentine.—Wilmington Dispatch.

SHARP PRACTICE.—The "Local" of the Newbern Times threatens to expose some fellow who sold one of the Newbern merchants a barrel of turpentine "with twenty pounds of clay or sand in the centre." People who put their fingers into turpentine must expect to be stuck.—Wil. Dispatch.

From Washington we learn that rumors are again prevalent of a Proclamation by President Johnson, soon to be forthcoming declaring peace and the restoration of the Southern States to the Union.

Gen. Howard has issued a circular in Mississippi instructing the officers of his bureau to endeavor to overcome the false reports industriously circulated, calculated to unsettle labor and give rise to disorder and suffering.

SOUTH CAROLINA DIRECT TAX.—The Secretary of the Treasury has replied to the Governor of South Carolina, who made application to assume the direct tax provided by act of Congress and pay the same in State bonds. The Secretary answers that he has no power to grant the request under existing laws.

Action on the many applications for special pardon is nearly altogether suspended by the President, whose time is occupied with the consideration of business of a pressing, if not more important character.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 16.

Frauds in the Internal Revenue Department.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 17.

Within the past few days immense frauds against the Internal Revenue Department have been discovered in petroleum operations. Three of the largest wells at Pithole have been seized by the Government.

GREAT BARGAINS IN CLOTHS AND FANCY DRY GOODS.

THE SUBSCRIBER RESPECTFULLY announces to his friends and patrons, and to the Members of the Legislature, and to strangers visiting the City, that he continues to carry on the

at his old stand, where he will be happy to see them and sell them great bargains in his line. He would also call the attention of those of the Military Department wishing to purchase clothing, uniforms or citizens' dress, to the fact that they will find great bargains. In style and taste they cannot be surpassed by any in this city or any other. He deems it unnecessary to say any thing of his own skill in the Tailoring business, but it will suffice to say that his experience has not been for a few years only, but for the last 25 years. He therefore solicits a liberal patronage. Prompt attention will be given to persons wishing to have cutting done. Orders from a distance will be thankfully received and promptly attended to. Call at store No. 15 Fayetteville Street, Raleigh, N. C.

MRS. FENTRESS has opened a Boarding House next door, about 150 yards from the Capitol, where she will entertain members of the Legislature or transient Boarders.

A new supply of goods has just been received and he will continue to receive them by every steamer that arrives.

FACTS TO BE CONSIDERED.

THERE ARE BUT FEW SUBJECTS PRESENTED to the mind of man upon which there are not a great variety of opinions, and about which there are not protracted discussions. But there are a few facts so well established, and so uncontrovertible that they are universally assented to. One is that all men now living, will soon be called upon to gather up their feet and depart to the land of the dead. "One generation goeth, and another cometh, and we have no abiding city here," is a matter about which there is no dispute. Another is, "Of that day, and of that hour, knoweth no man." Whether death cometh at the twelfth hour or at the cock crowing, is of equal uncertainty to all.

Another is, that when wife and children gather around us, to take their final leave, in that sad circle centers all our earthly interest. The last earthly rational thought of Husband and Father, is Wife and Children (if worthy of sustaining such endearing relations.) Another is, no man living knows what may be the result of his efforts to secure a competence for his family. "Riches take to themselves wings and fly away," has been realized by how many? adverse winds of to-morrow, may take the place of to-day's prosperous gales; under currents which the most penetrating eye cannot see, or the strongest arm control, may in an evil hour sweep away the hard earnings of years. Another is, no man ever has, or ever can assume more sacred obligations, than Husband and Father. Hence it is said, that he that will not provide for his own household is worse than an infidel.

Now, what Husband and Father is there battling with the difficulties of life, knowing as he must, that uncertainties attend every effort, and wait upon every enterprise, that he has not with earnest voice, and anxious heart, called to the future to unlock its barred gates and reveal to him the result of this or that undertaking. But the only voice that comes from that land of silence, is, "Verily, thou knowest not what shall be on the morrow."

Such are some of the few facts about which there is no controverry, and such are some of the uncertainties that ever have, and ever will, gather around our pathway through life, and which have in generations past, and will in generations to come, trouble and oppress the Husband and Father. Now in view of these facts, responsibilities, and uncertainties, it is for you to judge and decide upon the propriety, necessity, and duty, of making a policy on your life, for the benefit of your family. Will it not relieve you of your present anxiety to know that a certain portion of the fruits of you labors are secured to that family? Remember that whatever you pay for a life policy is paid to them. The stranger intermeddleth not with that.

Remember also, that $5000 paid to them in that day when the heart and flesh shall fail you, will be more to them, than $10,000 while you are here to provide for them. Also remember, that the amount for which you are insured will not be diminished in the settling of your estates, and that from generation to generation, Life insurance has answered the end for which it was ordained, as fully, to say to the least, as any institution of man's creation, and that its primary object was, and still is, to secure the family against the stern realities of want, and to relieve from corroding anxiety those who have assumed family responsibilities.

Do you say "I know it would be wise in me to take out a policy and I intend to do so soon; but just now I want to use all my funds in my business."—Friend, if it is wisdom in you to insure at all, it is folly to defer it, to-morrow is in eternity, therefore "Boast not thyself of to morrow," "Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof." "Procrastination is the thief of time."

The Aetna Life Insurance Company offers you all the inducements to insure that can be found in any company. Its assets are over a million and a half. It has a surplus of $300,000 over and above what is required to reinsure all its policies. Its monthly receipts are over $150,000. And it is issuing monthly nearly 1000 policies. Its rates for insurance are as reasonable as those of any other well established responsible Company. It is paying as large dividends to its policy holders as any other Company. Its officers are competent business men. Its assets, are as permanently and as safely invested as any other company can invest theirs, and from which as good interest is being received. It pays its losses as promptly, is as particular in the character of its risks, and as yet it is a stranger to litigation.
